The Greatest Miracle: the Real Presence of the Body of Christ Visible as the Impossible Unity of the Baptized

I always find it funny, in a Monty-Python way, that when told that Jesus had raised Lazarus from the dead, some of the authorities decided that He had to die. I mean, what's going on? What kind of mind works that way? If I see or hear that someone whom I consider an enemy has raised from the dead a stinking corpse, I'd certainly review my opinion about him. At least I'd change my opposition tactics! How can these people be so stupid?

Jesus himself, in the parable about Lazarus and the Rich Man, had said that if they didn't believe "Moses and the prophets" they were not going to be convinced by anyone coming back from the dead.

Is there nothing, no miracle, which at the very least will give pause to non-believers?

At the Last Supper Jesus identified what He believed would be such a miracle. It was the unity existing among his followers. This unity would convince the "world" that He was indeed the "One Sent" by the Father. Now, this is an amazing thing. It implies that the unity that Jesus asked for, for his disciples, is the greatest miracle that He is capable of performing. It is the decisive one, and the one indisputable evidence about who He is. This unity is more amazing, more astounding, and more exceptional than the return to life of a dead man!

In order to be what Jesus says, the unity between his followers must not be a fruit of their efforts. It must be a unity no human effort can achieve. It must be a unity that can only come from "above" us, from a Source greater than us. It must be a unity that embraces all the dimensions of human life, a unity that touches and brings together human beings at the deepest root of their identities. As such, it must be a perfect unity that is absolutely compatible with personal liberty, since without this liberty our lives would not be human. The only way this is possible is if this unity is itself what makes personal liberty possible, thus creating our experience of being unique and unrepeatable persons, the experience of saying "I." Our experience of identity itself must point toward this unity; it must desire it as an unquenchable need. The Mystery that the religious sense seeks, the Mystery that corresponds to the primordial desires or exigencies of the human heart, must be a Mystery of Unity and Freedom as absolutely inseparable, as One. And as such it must appear in history, if it is true that the Mystery absolutely beyond our reach has nevertheless become human flesh, human history.

That is why "Jesus" does not offer Himself alone as evidence. He doesn't "testify" to Himself, He said. He always appears involved, so to speak, in a Unity that defines Him, and what He yearns to do is to share this Unity with human beings. The personal presence of Jesus is not limited to the body conceived in Mary's womb. The presence in the flesh that He seeks, that He is working for, is the unity in flesh and blood between the followers of Christ. This is the real "Body of Christ."

When we speak today of the "real presence" of Christ, we mostly refer to the sacramental presence in the Eucharist. At one time that was not so. The presence of the "One Sent" in the flesh was certainly real in the body of the son of Mary, the body crucified on Calvary. The presence of the One Sent in human flesh was certainly real in the Risen Body of Christ touched by the Thomas who doubted. But as He said Himself, there is more, and "blessed" are those who can grasp this more through faith. There is another form of the presence in the flesh of the One Sent. The Eucharistic presence of the One Sent is certainly as real as any of these others, but its purpose is to create what was called the Real Presence of Christ, namely the unity between his followers that constitute His Body. If we wish to find the Mystery for which the heart yearns, it is for this incarnate unity, this unity in history, that we must search.

"Moses and the prophets" are a greater miracle than the resurrection of a dead man because they were already part of the formation of a people, a history, a tradition, a belonging that points to this miracle of divine and human unity. [The Church, which is the Body of Christ:] it's more revealing of the Mystery than seeing someone come out of a tomb.

by Monsignor Lorenzo Albacete, a forward to Servant of God Fr. Luigi Giussani's Why the Church

THANK YOU to all who helped prepare for Fr. Kapaun Day. We could not have done this without you! It took all of you, working together, to make Fr. Kapaun Day special!

Thank you to those who did the baking and preparing the food for so many, including the many parishioners who baked cookies for the meal. To those of you that cleaned and decorated the church, set up for Mass, cleaned the museum, mowed the grounds, pulled the weeds from the flower bed and from around the church.

To those who put up the tents, hauled the tanks for water for the walkers, put up the road signs and the soldier silhouette, put up the flags in the cemetery, power-washed the porch, statue, grotto, and put out the trash cans. Thank you!

Thank you to Alvin and Barbara Kroupa for allowing the walkers to stay at their farm, and the Knights who assisted them preparing their farm. Thanks to Centre High School for the use of the bus and driver, and for Lavada Holub for opening the Pilsen school for some very wet and cold walkers. For those who helped with parking the cars, the greeters, ushers, lectors, servers, choir, for praying the rosary, and for our Knights of Columbus Honor Guard.

To Bishop James Conley, Fr. Isaac Coulter, Fr. Curtis Hecker, Fr. Matt Pawlikowski, Fr. David Voss, for concelebrating the Mass. A special thank you to Greg & Rose Davidson for providing a place for Bishop Conley to stay, and to Marvin Tajchman who always provides video for the overflow crowd in the basement. Marvin also is the honorary photographer for the day.

A special thank you to the tour guides, who went above and beyond, making sure all the jobs were done and that everyone had an opportunity to visit the museum. Also to those who helped in the gift shop, thank you!

I pray I didn't forget anyone. If I did, please forgive me. I tried to list all the jobs so that anyone who wanted to help next year, could see that we could use their time and talent in so many different ways. Thank you, it was an awesome Fr. Kapaun Day!

ENCOUNTER SCHOOL OF MINISTRY
Summer Intensive, July 24 – 27, 2023. Experience the first 4 quarters in 4 days!
The Encounter School of Ministry of Wichita is for anyone who wants to receive more of the Holy Spirit for themselves and the sake of others. Jesus gave His Church a task to be His witnesses “to the end of the earth” (Acts 1:8). Whenever Jesus gives us a task, He makes grace available to us for completing it – that is why He first promised they would “receive power when the Holy Spirit has come upon you.” (Acts 1:8) Would you like to experience the power of the Holy Spirit? Would you like to share it with the people around you? Join us as we teach, equip, and activate missionary disciples who can confidently demonstrate the love of God through the power of the Holy Spirit in the middle of a hurting world hungry for God. You were made for this...made for more!
The Main Campus Summer Intensive provides a taste of the first 4 quarters of the Encounter School of Ministry over a fast 4-evening period. The Summer Intensive is a powerful experience that helps bridge the gap between the supernatural lifestyle of Jesus and the everyday experience of many believers. Focusing on topics from the first four quarters of Encounter School of Ministry, participants get a taste of the joy, transformation, and renewal that is at the heart of Encounter’s mission!
The Summer Intensive is ideal for someone whose schedule does not allow them to attend our school but wants a peek into it. It is also ideal for someone who would like to experience a little bit of our school before deciding to apply. Sessions are at Blessed Sacrament Church, July 24 - 27, 5:30 - 9pm.

The Encounter School of Ministry is open to Christians of all backgrounds—disciples who believe God calls them to demonstrate His supernatural love in their daily lives. Our curriculum and content is rooted in Catholic Tradition and faithful to Catholic teaching. Register at <https://encounterschool.org/wichita/> or contact Jackie Palic at 620.382.3757.
